HOW TO WAX YOURSELF AT HOME

STEP 1: DON'T
STEP 2: THE END

Make sure you exfoliate (scrub) and moisturise your skin regularly to prevent ingrown hairs and spots. This will also make your first visit back to me a lot easier! And if you're shaving temporarily, regular exfoliating and moisturising will help stop irritation too. Avoid using chemical hair removal creams and please don't wax yourself! If you need any advice, email me.

If you need any of the amazing Ruff Stuff Daily Scrub, which I retail at the salon, you can purchase it directly for now at <https://ruffstuffbodycare.co.uk>. There's a great offer at the moment of free P&P until May 1st (UK only).

GOOGLE REVIEWS

If you would like to help my business during lockdown, please take a few minutes to leave me a 5-star review on Google. This really helps my websites to rise up on the rankings and any new clients can see the level of service and results to expect. If you're on a mobile, go to Google Maps, search for Hone Male Grooming (men) or Hone Hair Removal (women) and scroll down to 'write review' button. On a PC, do a Google search for my business and click on the review button. Thank you!

I also have a Facebook page (HONE). Please like my page and make sure you follow the page so that you get any posts. If you can also leave a review on here too that will be greatly appreciated.

To all my lovely clients! I hope you and your loved ones are all safe and well during these difficult times. Thank you so much for all the kind, supportive messages and offers of prepayment to help me during this crisis - I really appreciate the thoughts.

I sent an email regarding the temporary closure of the salon, which I hope you all received - if not, let me know. I will inform you all once I am able to work again and will call you all individually to book you in, so please make sure I have all your up to date contact details. I will work extra days if required to help get everyone waxed and feeling smooth and hair-free once again!

THANK YOU NHS

Lastly, but certainly not least, I'd like to say a HUGE THANK YOU to all NHS and frontline workers. What an amazing job you do. I've always thought this after too many personal and family experiences - but now the whole world can see it and appreciate you!

Stay well and keep safe, and I hope to see you all in the not too distant future.
